Iconic actress and art-house luminary Isabella Rossellini (Blue Velvet, Death Becomes Her) teams up with legendary French screenwriter Jean-Claude Carrière for Green Porno, Live on Stage, the hysterical and eye-opening zoology lesson on the kinky and confounding mating rituals of insects and marine life. Adapted from Rossellini’s Sundance Channel series, this intimate one-woman conference uses cheeky theatrics to delightfully discuss the bizarre world of reproductive oddities, animal seductions and deadly enigmas. With puppets, props and projections, Rossellini shares stories like no other. Click here to view the trailer.

“We’re excited to welcome Ms. Rossellini to Boston this spring,” says ArtsEmerson’s Artistic Director David Dower. “Boston is filled with amazing performing arts organizations,” shared ArtsEmerson’s Creative Director Polly Carl. “It makes perfect sense for ArtsEmerson and World Music/CRASHarts to collaborate.”

“I’ve been a big fan of Isabella Rossellini’s work,” shares World Music/CRASHarts’ Executive Director Maure Anderson, “and when the opportunity arose to present Green Porno I jumped on the chance to bring her to Boston. Green Porno is a great supplement to Arts Emerson’s outstanding theatrical season, and we are thrilled to partner with them to bring this unique production to Boston audiences.”
